

Chinese traditional medicine (est. 2000 years)

- Prof. PC Leung to Carmen, me
- show details Feb 1
- Dear Dr. Bhattacharya,
-
- Please note that fat and animal adipose tissues have been used in Chinese Medicine as therapeutic agents. Examples are as follows:-
-
- a) Bovine fat: for polydipsia, jaundice, skin infection, “toxic manifestations”
- b) Sheep fat: for fatigue, constipation, anti-toxic
- c) Swine fat: for fatigue, jaundice, constipation, skin itchiness, cough
- d) Goat fat: for bleeding per rectum
- e) Deer fat: for headache, itchiness, skin infection
- f) Bear fat: for fatigue, skin problems and infections, numbness
- g) Seal fat: for cough, cold burn, burns, diarrhea
- h) Whale fat: for circulatory stagnation, coronary disease
- i) Ass fat: for cough and weak lung, antitoxic
- j) Chicken fat: supplement for muscle weakness
- k) Snake fat: for anti-toxic, deafness, skin infection
- l) Tortoise fat: for weakness, baldness
- m) Frog fat before hibernation: for weakness, debilitation, cough
- n) Fish fat for circulatory stagnation
- o) Shark fat for analgesic, anti-toxic, anti inflammatory
-
- Best regards,
- PC Leung

South Indian tribal medicine (500 years)

Common Name	Parts Used	Ailments
Chameleon	Fat/oil	Bodyache/erectile dysfunction
Crow	Flesh/tongue	Asthma/memory
Indian pangolin	Paste of scales	Inflammation
Porcupine	Fat	Rheumatism/gout
Jumping spider	Whole	Paralysis
Bed bug	Chewed live	Asthma/leucoderma
Mongoose	Roasted penis	Impotency
Pig / Buffalo	Fat	Joint pain, burn healing